

Justice Robyn Brody

Justice Robyn M. Brody practiced law for nearly 20 years in the Magic Valley until her election to the Idaho Supreme Court in November of 2016. She graduated from the University of Denver, earning a law degree and a master's degree in international business. Justice Brody moved to Twin Falls with her husband after law school and practiced law there for 13 years. Justice Brody and her family moved to Rupert in 2010 where she started her own law firm.

Justice Brody serves as the vice chief of the Idaho Supreme Court. She chairs the Pro Bono Commission and the Language Access Committee. She is also the Court's liaison to the Child Protection Committee, the Child Support Guidelines Committee, and the Children and Families in the Courts Committee. She is also an adjunct professor at the University of Idaho College of Law where she teaches a small law firm management practicum. She spends time volunteering to strengthen Idaho's legal community by participating in numerous continuing legal education seminars and serving as a mentor and presenter at the Idaho Trial Skills Academy, a new lawyer training program. One of her favorite parts of being a Supreme Court Justice is having the privilege of giving tours of the Supreme Court to many of Idaho's fifth graders.

Justice Brody and her husband have been married for 28 years, and the couple have two active boys, ages 16 and 18. She enjoys spending time with her boys in numerous sports and activities, including football, skiing, speech and debate, and drama. She is an active member of the Catholic Church and is a past president of the School Board of St. Nicholas Catholic School.
